

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

The Editorial Committee has been working hard to have this edition ready for the Annual ASOCOPI congress which this time will take place in October in Bogotá. The Committee thinks that this congress is the perfect occasion to exchange ideas about academic matters and to distribute HOW to our subscribers and English teachers from all over the country who attend these academic events.

This is the second year that the same Committee is in charge of the preparation and edition of HOW. Therefore we have made a special effort to give this issue an ample coverage to suit both students' and teachers' needs and expectations, trying to keep a balance between theoretical manuscripts and practical ones.

The present edition includes such topics as constructivism, curriculum and CALL. Needless to say these issues are receiving special consideration in education nowadays. It also includes articles that deal with such fields as teaching English to children, Translation, Resource Centers and the development of reading and writing skills.

The Editorial Committee hopes that English teachers and students will benefit from the contents of this issue of HOW so as to help them in their endeavor of improving their level of English. We look forward to receiving feedback on this edition at the ASOCOPI Congress to be held in Bogotá.
